CITY OF CLARKSBURG

Updates from City Manager, Tiffany Fell

Wishing You a Merry Christmas!

Clarksburg is a city full of history and tradition and during this holiday season much of it is on full display. Filled with holiday decorating and meals with family favorites on the table. We will enjoy sweets shared with friends and family--like Christmas cookies or pita piatas lovingly made by our friends or family members.

This year, as a city, we hosted a wonderful Winterfest which saw people fill the city streets, despite the weather, to watch the Clarksburg Christmas Parade with over 130 groups from all over Harrison County. The Artisan Market was so successful this year that vendors were running out of merchandise.

The Robinson Grand has offered a fantastic selection of holiday entertainment this year and will finish the season with some of the big family favorites. We hope you take the opportunity to enjoy those events with your friends and family.

Over the next few weeks, families will gather to share memories and enjoy their traditions. During that time, many of those who have moved away will return and remember why it is always good to come home to Clarksburg.

FREE Metered Parking Downtown

A quick reminder that the city continues the tradition of making all metered street parking free for the month of December. We want to encourage you to come downtown and enjoy our local shops and restaurants over this holiday season.

Christmas Light Contest Ending

We are excited to see a good number of citizens entering Clarksburg's first annual Christmas Lights Contest. Reminder: today, Friday, Dec. 15th is the final day to enter or nominate a home.

Information on the contest as well as a current listing and map of contest entrants are available on the city website, so you can take a nighttime car ride and see them yourself:
